Note:

Students in the special education mild/moderate disabilities and elementary education Grades 1-5 program are exposed to cultural and global perspectives through knowledge of multicultural educational issues infused throughout all special education courses. All course objectives and learner outcomes delineated on syllabi have been revised to reflect the knowledge and skill standards set forth by the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC). These standards are inclusive in nature, including the "...knowledge and skills considered essential to effectively serve all exceptional learners, including those from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds" (The Council for Exceptional Children, 2000, p. 20). (See for example, SPED 200, SPED 363, and SPED 440 syllabi). In addition, all students are placed in multicultural public school settings during field experiences and student teaching.
